

ABSTRACT

An apparatus and process is provided for continuously depositing solid carbon at atmospheric pressure onto the surfaces and in the porosity of a thin substrate material.